S. Viets Construct 'Death Barrier'

REPORTER'S REFLECTIONS

City voters on Tuesday will pick a mayor and four commissioners.

As each citizen on Tuesday enters the secrecy of the booth and looks at the ballot he has carried in with him, it will seem he must make a choice for mayor and four choices for commissioners.

The first impression is true; the second is not.

Two men are contending for the mayorship of the city and the voting citizen can only make a choice between them.

The situation in electing commissioners is different.

All who vote will elect four commissioners, but each individual who votes will only indicate who of the eight he thinks ought to be elected.

The subtle difference is that each candidate is running independent of any other office seeker and the four receiving the most votes will be elected.

This difference means a voter who desires very much that one candidate be elected but is not so certain about who should get the other three seats, in voting for more than one candidate might just be casting a ballot against his favorite candidate.

If the race in the general election for fourth place is as close as in the primary, this really comes into focus.

Eighty-two votes, only, separated the last five of eight qualifying candidates in the primary.

We are not predicting, necessarily, that these five will be fighting it out for the fourth spot on Tuesday.

We do, however, suggest that if an individual has a favorite candidate who is included in the five mentioned above, that a vote for another included in the five might be a vote that will put the second choice ahead of the favored candidate.

It also follows that a ballot on which X's are made for four choices open to the voter increases the chances of this occurring, particularly if all four choices are those finishing in the last five spots in the primary or if the favored candidate is included in this group while others chosen are not.

The point we have raised is only important for voters who are not sure about which of four candidates they believe should be elected. And its importance is to show this voter how best to use his ballot to express his belief.

Perhaps the reader can carry the logic farther to note the affect the principle would have in other candidate situations.

Oregon Council Issues License To Tavern

OREGON — City Councilmen Friday night issued a liquor license to Cynthia N. Robbins, owner of the Blackhawk Tavern, 117 S. Fourth St.

The license was surrendered by Kathryn J. Bartlett, former owner of the tavern.

The council received certification from city engineers that Timberlane Terrace has been accepted as a city street.

Councilmen announced an open house will be held when the enlargement of the sewage treatment plant is completed. It is expected to be completed this summer.

Councilmen also transferred $10,000 from the sales tax fund to the general corporation fund. The council will meet next week to canvas ballots cast in Tuesday's election.

Slate Petunia Festival Fund-Raising Dinner

Dave Major and the Minors makes up one of the most versatile show groups available, consisting of four talented musicians who are also accomplished singers.

These four young men have a unique way of pleasing audiences wherever they go and capturing the mood of the evening, whether it be hilarious comedy or a dramatic production number.

They delight audiences everywhere with their impersonations, folk songs, jazz, and semi-classical tunes, and their amusing comedy skits.

Heading the group is Dave Perry, who plays the guitar, tenor saxophone, alto saxophone, clarinet, tenor banjo, and the violin. Dave's exciting semi-classical tune, "Malaguena," is sure to hold the audience spell-bound.

Dick Perry, Dave's identical twin, provides a double meaning to exciting entertainment. His bass playing drives the pulsating rhythm of the group, while his mastery of the trumpet, trombone, harmonica, and drums reveal his qualities as an accomplished musician.

Jim Beverly, the percussionist, is the true comedian of the group. His impersonations as well as his monologues provide rollicking entertainment for all. Jim's dynamic drum solo is a number no one should miss.

Dick Jess, the newest addition to Dave Major and the Minors, amazes everyone with his expert trombone playing. He performs equally well on organ, piano, guitar, bass, trumpet and saxophone plus he is a natural for comedy.

Dave Major and the Minors have worked such clubs as the Sahara, Ramada, the Sheraton O'Hare, the Conrad Hilton, the Holiday, Captain's Lounge, Your Uncle's Place, The Embers, the Virginian, not to mention the TV shot on the Mike Douglas Show, One O'Clock club show in Cleveland, and the Danny Thomas benefit show in Chicago.

They have performed with such notables as the Harmonicats, George Jessel, Henry Youngman, Phil Foster, The Ink Spots, and Bobby Rydell.

The best part of all this is they will be here Thursday at the Skyline Lodge playing for the Petunia Festival $10 a-plate fund-raising dinner.

If you haven't, why not call the Chamber of Commerce office and reserve tickets.

Peace Marchers Jam New York, San Francisco

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of peace marchers jammed into United Nations Plaza today to hear Dr. Martin Luther King repeatedly call on the United States to "honor its word" and "stop the bombing" of North Vietnam.

"I would like to urge students from colleges all over the nation to use this summer and coming summers educating and organizing communities across the nation against war," the Nobel Peace Prize winner told one of the two mammoth antiwar rallies.

In San Francisco

Across the continent in San Francisco, birthplace of the United Nations and site of the second rally, thousands of persons from Pacific Coast states gathered to hear King's wife and Negro Georgia legislator Julian Bond.

King made his remarks in a speech prepared for what could be the nation's largest protest against the Vietnam war.

Up to a half-million persons were predicted. Police called in riot experts to prepare for scheduled mass draft card burnings and speeches.

"Distinguished statesmen the world over believe the end of bombings to be the key to peace," King said. "A large minority of Americans want the bombings terminated. I firmly believe that if it were clear to all Americans that this is a practical move to peace, 90 per cent would support it."

They're Real

The four young men above make up the best group of entertainers whose act you will be able to catch here in the old hometown. From the top they are, Dick Jess, Dick Perry, identical twin, Dave, and Jim Everly. Help the festival finances and treat yourself to an evening you will remember. Make a date to spend an evening with Dave Major and the Minors.

No Change in Adenauer's Condition

BONN, Germany (AP) — Doctors announced today that ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer passed a quiet and painless night, but that there was still great concern for his life.

The 91-year-old statesman's condition had not changed, physicians said.

Scores of people, mostly newsmen, stood at the gates of his hillside residence through a cold and rainy night.

Prof. Adolph Heymer, head of the Bonn University Hospital, arrived just after 9 a.m. and said to reporters: "I can't tell you anything new."

Adenauer came down with a bad attack of flu, complicated by bronchitis, Wednesday. Doctors said later his whole organism had weakened, especially his heart and blood circulation.

Adenauer has been under an oxygen tent, and it was reported that the last rites of the Catholic Church had been given.

His youngest son George, a lawyer who lives next door, told newsmen Friday night that his father was conscious several times during the day and recognized his sons at the bedside.

OK Chicago Truce

Truckers Return To Work Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Trucks were rolling again today in the Chicago area after operators and drivers agreed to a truce in the five-day-old trucking work stoppage.

The agreement — which became effective at 12:01 a.m. — was requested Friday by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Operators and union officials agreed to meet with Wirtz Tuesday in Washington in an attempt to iron out their differences.

Union spokesmen made it clear the truce does not rule out renewal of the strike at some later date.

Will Not Compromise

"We haven't given up a thing by agreeing to go to Washington," said Louis Peick, chief negotiator for 10 Teamsters locals in Chicago. Edward Fennel, head of the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union, said the unions will not compromise on their demands for higher wages, better vacation schedules or any other "bread-and-butter issues."

The shutdown, which closed more than 90 per cent of Chicago's trucking firms, also was felt in Washington.

Teamsters officials there were reported reluctant to sign the tentative national agreement in fear the Chicago locals will receive a better contract.

Chicago locals have demanded a 90-cents-an-hour boost, believed to be more than 20 cents greater than the national pact, which affects some 450,000 truckers and warehousemen. The conference in Washington Tuesday is aimed at reconciling the contracts.

The national trucking pact has not yet been ratified by the

Poloan Pinned Under Tractor

POLO — Antone Helander, 46, Rt. 3, is in "fairly good" condition today in KSB Hospital, Dixon, where he is being treated for injuries suffered Friday afternoon, when he was pinned beneath an overturned tractor.

Hospital authorities said Helander suffered a fractured vertebrae in the accident.

According to McNabb Ambulance employees, Helander was plowing when the tractor overturned.

Senate OKs Deduction For College Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to give parents a tax break on their children's college expenses — but chances of the provision becoming law appear bleak.

The relief — ranging up to $325 a year per student — is provided in an amendment by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., tacked on to a pending administration tax bill Friday by a 53-26 vote.

The tax bill would restore business tax incentives canceled by Congress last October, including the 7 per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment purchases.

The administration consistently has opposed the Ribicoff proposal because of its heavy cost, estimated at $600 million the first year and $1.3 billion by 1970.

The amendment was beaten by 3 votes in 1964 and 10 votes last year when it also was offered as a rider to House tax bills.

Friday's vote marked the first time it had passed either branch of Congress. But the Treasury is expected to try to kill it when the House-approved tax bill goes to a Senate-House conference committee.

Some senators said privately they're convinced the vote on the Ribicoff proposal was part of a strategy to load down the pending tax measure with extraneous amendments.

If that is done, they said, it might be easier to kill all of the riders in conference — including a controversial amendment adopted Thursday to repeal the presidential election campaign financing plan.

The sources noted that Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author

Man Drowns

Towboat Swamped By Waves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A brief storm accompanied by tornadoes whisked through sections of northern and central Illinois Friday and left injuries and property damage in its wake.

One man was presumed drowned when the towboat Bixby was swamped by five-foot waves on the Mississippi River near Nauvoo. Edward Fox, of Duplo, pilot of the towboat, was missing. Three other crewmen were rescued.

Winds in excess of 60 miles an hour roared through the Rock Island area and seven persons were injured. Display windows were blown in at several stores in the area.

In Des Plaines, northwest of Chicago, three bricklayers were injured when a brick wall they were working on toppled over.

An intense storm raced through metropolitan Chicago, shattering windows, peeling shingles off roofs and drenching downtown shoppers. One woman was cut by flying glass from a broken window as she waited for a bus.

A tornado touched down at Franklin Park on Chicago's northwest side. Part of a roof at the Borg-Warner Corporation auto parts center was ripped off.

High winds overturned two light planes at the Aurora Airport. Hail described by police as golf-ball size pounded northwest Chicago briefly during the storm.

and chief defender of the financing plan, spoke and voted for the Ribicoff proposal. He previously had opposed it as the administration's Senate spokesman on tax legislation.

Long told the Senate Friday he was not giving up the fight to save his campaign financing plan.

The existing financing law allows citizens to earmark $1 of their income taxes to support the major parties in presidential campaigns. Democrats and Republicans would split the money — which backers of the plan estimate would total up to $60 million in 1968, if nearly all taxpayers made the $1 allotment.

The Ribicoff amendment would provide a tax credit against the cost of college tuition, fees, books and equipment but would not apply to board and room. A credit can be subtracted from taxes due.

Winnebago Grand Jury Indicts Youth

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A 17-year-old Negro youth faces arraignment Tuesday on a charge of slaying two white boys execution-style in a Rockford park pavilion. The Winnebago County grand jury issued an indictment Friday against John W. Williams Jr., son of a former deputy sheriff. He is accused of gunning down two 14-year-old cousins, Ronald Johnson and Wayne Mullendore, March 2, after facing them against the pavilion wall.

During a preliminary hearing after Williams' arrest, a cousin, Eugene Williams, 16, testified he saw the accused with a pistol the night of the double slaying and quoted him as saying: "If anybody messes with me I'm going to kill 'em . . . I'd like to shoot some white person if they look at me wrong."

When Williams was arrested, police said, they found in his home a 22-caliber rifle equipped with a silencer and telescopic sight.

Halt Flow Of Reds To South

SAIGON (UPI) —Premier Nguyen Cao Ky announced today South Vietnamese engineers had begun construction of a little Maginot Line along a 14-mile stretch of the North-South Vietnam border to halt the flow of communist troops into South Vietnam.

The death barrier extends inland from the South China Sea to the mountains where infiltration is far more difficult and where U.S. Marines are firmly entrenched with artillery commanding some of the infiltration valleys. Its construction emphasized the danger of direct invasion from the north.

The barrier would consist of thousands of land mines, anti-personnel devices and miles of concertina barbed wire backed up by troops and artillery. The French Maginot Line which failed to halt the Nazi invasion of France was a series of steel and concrete underground fortresses which the Germans simply bypassed in an end-around sweep.

Field Of Fire

At the same time Vietnamese troops with huge bulldozers and other earth moving equipment moved out of the Da Nang area to carve out a huge field of fire below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) to make detection of invaders easier. Their purpose was to remove all vegetation along a wide swath.

Ky, speaking to newsmen at Bien Hoa airbase, said 20,000 villagers would be evacuated from a strip just below the DMZ and that anything moving in the zone would be subject to allied air and artillery strikes.

The move also could free U.S. Marines for possible action against the DMZ area where from three to four North Vietnamese divisions have been reported active in an invasion threat. The arrival of 3,000 to 5,000 Army reinforcements — with more to come — freed the Marines' offensive power.

In the air war American planes flew 103 missions against North Vietnam Friday, knocking out eight anti-aircraft sites and a surface-to-air (SAM) missile site barely 10 miles west of Haiphong. At the same time U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers duelled with North Vietnamese coastal batteries.

Plane Downed

An F105 Thunderchief was shot down, the 50th aircraft reported lost over the north since the raids began, but its pilot was rescued.

Jury Will Receive Speck Case Today

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) —The Richard Speck mass murder case, in progress for eight weeks was expected to go to the jury today.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen, who set today for the summations by prosecution and defense, said he expected the jury to receive the case this afternoon.

Speck, charged with strangling or stabbing to death eight nurses in a Chicago south side dormitory last July, will have one of four futures after the jury deliberates—death by the electric chair, imprisonment, freedom or the prospect of another trial.

Under Illinois law the jury can return a guilty verdict and recommend a death penalty which the judge has the option to lessen, return a guilty verdict and withhold recommendation of sentence, thus ruling out death and leaving the choice of time in prison to the judge, or return a verdict of innocent. The fourth possibility is a hung jury and a new trial.

Paschen already has said he intends to keep the jury in deliberation until 10:30 tonight and will bring them back Sunday morning if they still haven't reached a decision.

To be considered in deciding the fate of the 25-year-old Texas drifter will be the weight of the prosecution's contention that fingerprints and an eyewitness account mark Speck as alleged killer against the defense's rebuttal that Speck has an alibi for at least some of the hours of the murders, the fingerprints were inconclusive and faulty identification by the lone survivor, Philippine nurse Corazon Amurao.

Defense Atty. Gerald Getty, in his opening arguments—expected to be repeated in his summation today — made it clear that he would attempt to get Speck a verdict of innocent rather than have him plead innocent by reason of insanity.

But the jury also has to weigh voluminous testimony and exhibits offered by the prosecution against the meager and brief testimony offered for the defense.

Assistant Cook County State's Atty. William Martin, prosecuting the case, called 42 witnesses and entered 52 exhibits. The defense offered 11 witnesses and produced photos of unidentified fingerprints and fingerprints of two of the victims found at the murder scene in an attempt to refute prosecution testimony centering on Speck's fingerprints.

Kerner Budget Message Set For April 19

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—Gov. Otto Kerner will deliver his budget message to a joint session of the legislature on April 19, he said Wednesday.

The total budget for the next two years has been estimated by the state's chief expert at about $5.9 billion in state and federal funds, an increase of $1.5 billion from the total appropriations for the 1965-67 biennium.

In his budget message, Kerner plans to outline revenue needs to meet the anticipated expenditures, which will include substantial higher costs of public school, junior college and state university education.

The governor is on record in opposition to any state income tax. But increases in the state sales tax and gasoline tax were regarded as possible.

The sales tax is the state's chief source of revenue, accounting for more than twice as much revenue as the gas tax, the second biggest source.

A proposed increase in the state's sales tax, now 3.5 per cent, was regarded as possible, especially in view of pending legislation to authorize an increase in the city sales tax from 1/2 per cent to 1 per cent.

The state tax on gasoline is now 5 cents per gallon. Two years ago Kerner asked for a 3 cent per gallon gas tax increase with 2 cents for education and 1 cent for the road fund. That proposal failed to pass the 1965 legislature.

Seek Approval Of Bill for NIU Television

SPRINGFIELD — An educational television for the DeKalb area came a step closer to reality Wednesday.

A bill to provide up to $800,000 to Northern Illinois University for the station passed the Senate Education Committee unanimously.

A hearing on the bill, which was introduced by Sen. Dennis Collins (R-DeKalb) March 29, was held by the committee with university and area school officials attending.

Next step for the bill will be the Senate Appropriations Committee.

If passed by the Legislature and signed by Gov. Otto Kerner, the bill would allow NIU to construct and operate the UHF (Ultra High Frequency) station with studios at the university and a transmitter near DeKalb.

The channel is expected to carry credit and non-credit adult education courses, extension courses and cultural entertainment.

An estimated 11 million persons around the world participate in the sport of golf.

One hundred and sixty students from Oregon High School traveled to Sandwich today to participate in the IHRS State Music Contest for organizations.

The high school band, select choir, Girls Glee Club and Boys Glee Club are performing.

The annual spring chorus concert will be held May 5 and the annual spring band concert will be May 12. Floyd Montgomery and William Thomas are the directors of the band and chorus respectively.

Flying Objects

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A bill outlawing the release of any object into the night air that might be mistaken for an unidentified flying object (UFO) was introduced in the Tennessee House of Representatives Thursday.

"I don't think the people should add to the confusion," explained Rep. Ellis Gill, sponsor of the measure.

Reports of UFO's which really aren't UFO's "could make people panic," Gill said and proposed a fine of $50 for violators.

Mrs. Berga Honored by OES Chapter

AMBOY — Mrs. Oscar Berga was honored by Arbutus Chapter OES for 50 years of continuous membership in the Order of Eastern Star at a recent meeting held here in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Richard Berkeley, worthy matron of the chapter, presided and invited Mrs. Berga to a place of honor in the "East" where she was presented with a lifetime membership, a corsage and a 50-year pin.

Mrs. Berga is the former Edith Abbott of Sheridan and was inducted into the order when her mother was worthy matron of Sheridan Chapter.

During the evening there was an initiation ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lilja and Mrs. Robert Machen were welcomed into the lodge as new members.

The evening closed with refreshments and an informal reception in the lodge dining room. Guests were present from Walnut, Sheridan, Sterling and Dixon.

SVC Students Win Awards At Macomb

First places were earned by both of the two Sauk Valley College students returning from the Third Annual Spring Oral Interpretation Tournament held April 7 and 8 at Western Illinois University, Macomb.

The only junior college in the tournament, Sauk Valley College was represented by Jane Ramold, Rt. 1, Dixon, and Thomas E. Folkers, 211 W. 12th St., Sterling.

Competing against 19 other colleges from 10 states, such as the University of California, Berkeley, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., and Wisconsin State Universities at Stevens Point and Superior, Miss Ramold and Folkers entered into five rounds of competition.

Participants in the five rounds read prose and poetry selections of literary merit, great speeches in American history, a cutting from a play or other dramatic selection and gave a lecture-recital combining prose, poetry and an original writing of the reader on any serious subject.

To win her first place in round one of the tournament Miss Ramold read a prose selection, "The Catbird Seed" by James Thurber. Thomas Folkers read from the first scene of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" in the dramatic competition for his first place.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, April 15, the 105th day of 1967. There are 260 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1865, President Abraham Lincoln died.

On this date: In 1638, English colonists arrived at what is now New Haven, Conn.

In 1850, San Francisco was incorporated as a city.

In 1942, Japanese artillery blasted American positions on Corregidor.

In 1945, President Franklin Roosevelt's body was interred at his family's estate at Hyde Park, N.Y.

In 1946, Spain invited all friendly nations to send a mission to the country to investigate charges that German scientists in Spain were working on Atomic Energy.

Ten years ago — Britain's House of Commons approved a new budget which provided for substantial tax cuts for the individual taxpayer as well as for businesses.

Five years ago — The Shah of Iran and his wife were traveling about the United States on a seven-day official visit.

One year ago — President Johnson endorsed a proposal for a summit meeting of inter-American heads of state to speed the work of the Alliance for Progress.

'Spies' Increase

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Lester Maddox, angered by criticism, said Thursday he may increase from 1,000 to 2 million his committee of citizens "spies" on state employees.

Maddox particularly was irked by the remarks of Lt. Gov. George T. Smith, who said such a spy committee would hurt the morale of state employees and lead to political dismissals.

The governor said his committee, which would report on the efficiency of state government workers, would harm no employe with a clean record.

LOOKING AROUND By E. G.

Happy birthday to . . . Ethel Sinow, John Kreider and Russ Byers, today . . . James Cledon and Bob Hofmann, the 18th . . . Mrs. Jacob Sinow, the 19th . . . Marian Clevidence, Charles Kested and Dr. Jim Collins, the 21st.

And from my house to everybody's house — a most happy, happy Income Tax Day . . . before midnight Monday, April 17th, beg, steal or borrow . . . for it's the pause in the year's occupation . . . that is known as the taxpayer's hour . . . but don't you worry, fret or stew . . . our congressmen wisely spend your money for you.

And away it goes . . . $20,000 for the study of German cockroaches . . . $8,789 for the study of comic strips . . . $5,000 to study British and French fur trade between 1776 and 1820 . . . $10,000 to study medieval canon law . . . $10,000 to microfilm manuscripts written in European monasteries prior to 1600 . . . $30,000 to catalogue manuscripts from Russia, Hungary and Poland.

$21,000 for a list of French prose and fiction from 1700 to 1750 . . . $18,800 for a paper entitled, "Did Edmund Burke write the 18th century journal, the Annual Register?" . . . $34,950 for an index to Victorian periodicals from 1824 to 1900 . . . $16,600 for a study on the political thoughts of William of Ockham, 14th century theologian and philosopher . . . $5,000 for a study of the world views and life ways of the Guajiro Indians of the Guajiro peninsula in Colombia and Venezuela.

$10,000 to study phases of Chinese life from the 14th to the 17th century . . . $12,650 for research on the contribution of "popular" literature to the creation and maintenance of American myths and traditions . . . and down in New Mexico, where for generations the Zuni Indians have been noted for their Indian jewelry, $219,000 goes to teach Zuni Indians how to make Indian jewelry. . . (The foregoing administration approved expenditures come from the 1967 February and March issues of "Dawn," published at Portland, Ind.)

Avis and Holly Campbell have returned from a two week vacation in Hawaii . . . during their stay on the Islands, Avis had a nice visit with Mary Murphy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Murphy, who is a white collar girl in Honolulu.

A do-it-yourself — and inexpensive, too — highway beautification project . . . go to your druggist and buy gelatin capsules . . . fill them with wildflower seed, fertilizer and sand . . . toss them from your car as you ride along the highways and by-ways . . . April showers will do the rest . . . this idea comes from Mrs. William Bankton, a Memphis, Tenn., garden club prexy.

Mrs. Edward Jones and Mrs. Grover McDonald were hostesses for a Wednesday afternoon luncheon and bridge at the Dixon Country club . . . "Psychologists say no person should keep too much to himself. The Internal Revenue Department is of the same opinion."

Service deluxe . . . a local matron purchased a live lobster at one of our local grocery-dispensing emporiums . . . took it home — but when it came time to plunge it alive into the boiling water she couldn't do it . . . she called the store, stating her squeamish situation . . . one of the gallant owners went to her home and did the job.

Nice to have Barbara Bufton in town . . . arrived Tuesday from Pensacola, Fla., for a visit with her parents, the O. B. Gerlachs. . . "In 1913, the tax on a $4,000 income was one penny." . . . Roxie and Jim Hey are home from a St. Petersburg, Fla., vacation. . . and Thursday morning, it was a brunch for the fairer sex, courtesy of Phyllis Brantley, at the Dixon Country club.

Heartwarming . . . is this contribution from one who asks to be unidentified . . . the caller told me that several years ago a family, whose baby had died, could not afford a burial plot . . . Mrs. Louis Leydig gave the family permission to use part of her parent's lot in the Burkett cemetery on the Franklin Grove Road . . . the caller was so right when she said, "So, you see, she not only takes care of them while they are living — but after they are gone."

Posies to . . . the Mel Murphys, celebrating their 26th wedding anniversary — Alice and Pete Dempsey, their 27th — and Mr. and Mrs. Ansel L. Youngblood, their 47th, today . . . Phyllis and Gordon Brantley, their 23rd, the 17th.

Max and Helen Van Scoy are back from a 13-day trip to Colorado . . . attended a reunion of senior bank officers seminar at the Broadmoor Hotel, Colorado Springs . . . also visited the Dwight Chapmans, former Dixonites, now living at Estes Park and relatives at Ft. Collins, Longmont, Conifer and Denver.

Looking forward to looking around and seeing what other "lucky ducks" will be catching "Dave Major and the Minors" at the Petunia Festival kick-off dinner, Thursday, April 20th . . . their music, antics and skits will "roll you in the aisle" . . . a fun evening while boosting the old home town . . . only $10 for all this — and dinner, too . . . make your reservations now . . . don't be on the outside — wishing you were inside!

Urge Limit In Dairy Imports

SPRINGFIELD — House Joint Resolution sponsored by Rep. Merle K. Anderson (R-Durand), was introduced in the House today which urges Congress to enact a bill now pending which would place effective limits upon the importation of all foreign dairy products.

"In the past, vast U.S. markets have attracted record daily imports from other countries," said Anderson, "and this year, I am reliably informed, such imports are expected to flood our markets in excess of 4 billion pounds, up 400 per cent from two years ago.

"The foreign producers are exporting to this country a cheddar cheese, called 'colby cheese', which works to the detriment of American cheese producers causing an estimated loss of $185 million or $640 per farm in the midwest area. Illinois is a leading dairy state and one of the nation's large cheese producers and stands to suffer severe economic loss unless limitations are placed on imports as provided in the bill in Congress. Besides that, foreign standards and sanitary requirements on cheese are not as high as those required of producers and processors of cheese made in this country."

Anderson said that Wisconsin has passed a similar resolution and other states have them pending.

The resolution now goes to the Senate.

Thirty per cent of the fir doors produced in the United States come from Oregon, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Chances for Approval Of Surtax Improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects for congressional approval of President Johnson's proposed income tax surcharge are on the upswing, although it is almost certain the original July 1 target date won't be met.

A sampling of sources both in Congress and the executive branch turned up considerable agreement today that signposts finally are beginning to point toward the late-1967 economic pickup the administration predicted.

These sources listed such factors as increased industrial production, reduced inventories and rising consumer demands as signs the economy — sluggish earlier in the year — now has started to surge.

Nearly certain congressional approval of boosts in Social Security benefits and pay hikes for federal employees — plus the release of more than $3 billion in previously impounded federal funds — also are seen as adding to the tax hike's prospects.

"By fall," said one source, "I think we'll be right back where we were last year — trying to slow down a real threat of inflation."

That's what Johnson had in mind in proposing a 6 per cent across-the-board surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes beginning July 1.

But he still hasn't sent the legislation to Congress, where there has been considerable reluctance to vote a tax increase — a hesitancy fortified by the economy's torpid pace.

One legislative strategist said it probably would be impractical to seek action on a tax hike until the economic pickup has continued long enough to end any doubts about its true nature.

He suggested this would mean a delay in final action until October or November.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Friday that industrial output increased slightly in March following the largest two-month drop in six years.

The index rose from 156.1 per cent of the 1957-59 average in February to 156.4 per cent in March. After hitting a record 159 points on the index last December, the Reserve Board's measure of the output of mines, mills and factories plummeted 2.9 points in January and February.

Dixon Girl Hit by Car, Hospitalized

A 17-year-old Dixon girl remains in fair condition today at KSB Hospital suffering from a possible concussion and cut on the back of her head received when she was struck by a car on Third Street near Madison Avenue.

Injured was Dolores Owens, 515 College Ave., who police say was struck while crossing the street by an eastbound auto on Third Street driven by Norma J. Blosser, 22, 1844 First St.

No tickets were issued in the 9:15 p.m. accident, police said.

cent of the nation would enthusiastically endorse it."

King, who 11 days ago called for more conscientious objectors and stepped-up demonstrations against the war, noted that "on Dec. 19, Washington officially asked (U.N. Secretary-General) U Thant to take whatever steps were necessary for a cease-fire."

"U Thant responded 'stop the bombing,'" King said.

"Why have we not yet done it? Let us demand insistently that our government honor its word. If Washington did not hear U Thant, let us say it loudly and often enough so that the deaf can hear it — stop the bombing!" He repeated the last phrase again and again.

King repeated his belief that "in all our history there has never been such a monumental dissent during a war by the American people."

"The immorality of this war lies in the tragic fact that no vital American interest is in peril or in jeopardy," he said. "We are waging war in a contest that is fully capable of resolution by peaceful means."

He charged that Nguyen Cao Ky, supported by the United States as South Vietnamese premier, "acknowledges Hitler as his hero-figure," and "was a mercenary of the French against the Algerians."

"By entering a war that is little more than a domestic civil war," he said, "America has ended up supporting a new form of colonialism covered up by certain niceties of complexity."

He does not believe, he said, that the nation "cannot support both war and adequate anti-poverty programs," but feels that "men of power who never wanted a struggle for civil rights... will use the burden of war to scuttle constructive social programs."

"We are arrogant," King said, "in our contention that we have some sacred mission to protect people from totalitarian rule while we make little use of our power to end the evils of South Africa and Rhodesia."

Security measures for the New York protest were tighter than any since the 1965 visit of Pope Paul VI.

ECUMENICAL BLUE RIBBON CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — The coffee cake that won a first prize at the Carlsbad Pecan Fiesta was in a sense the result of the recent Catholic Ecumenical Council in Rome.

The coffee cake was entered by Sister M. Celestine of the Precious Blood order of nuns.

She said nuns now are making it known that they're not far from laymen in interests and projects.

She won a blue ribbon and a $10 gift certificate at a woman's apparel store here.

"I'll use the gift certificate if they have anything a nun can wear," she said.

Deaths and Funerals

George S. Patterson

George S. Patterson, 71, Rt. 1, Leaf River, a former Lee County resident, died this morning in Freeport Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Patterson was born Nov. 19, 1895, in Dixon, the son of Samuel and Mary Spangler Patterson, and was married to the former Alta Naylor on Feb. 20, 1917, in Dixon.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Miss Georgia Marie Patterson, at home, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Adams, Dixon.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Chapel Hill Funeral Home, with the Rev. Willis Thomas, Leaf River, officiating. Burial will be in Chapel Hill Cemetery.

Visitation will be after 2 p.m. Sunday. The family will be in the funeral home from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

dropped their bombs accidentally on a South Vietnamese position 23 miles northwest of the coastal city of Qui Nhon. An American spokesman said 29 government soldiers were killed and 70 others wounded. A spokesman said the planes were under "radar control" and dropped their bombs off target during a pre-planned night mission.

The infiltration of North Vietnamese troops across the border has been listed by American officials as a major problem. Communist activity in northernmost Quang Tri province has stepped up markedly in recent weeks.

Reinforcements Move In Earlier this week, the U.S. moved heavy reinforcements into the northern part of the country to back up the American Marines and South Vietnamese soldiers already in action there.

Ky said he already had given the order to begin evacuating the estimated 20,000 villagers living within a 14-mile by three-mile strip between the South China Sea coast and the mountains to the west.

This new strip will be designated a "no man's land" where anything that moves will become fair game for warplanes prowling overhead and Allied artillery which will have every inch of the area zeroed in.

Ky mentioned the possibility of moving American and Vietnamese troop concentrations up the DMZ.

"We have no means to control or stop the North Vietnamese crossing the (Ben Hai) River," Ky said. "I think we need American and Vietnamese troops there."

Merchants Can Pick Up Tubs For Petunias

The tubs belonging to merchants which in past years have had petunias planted in them may be picked up at the home of Ray Evans, 619 E. Graham St.

Vincent Oehl, chairman of the petunia planting committee, reports the Men's Garden Club will not plant petunias in the tubs this year nor assume any responsibility for whatever merchants may plant in them.

Set Career Development Conference

More than 50 high schools throughout Northern Illinois have been invited to attend a career development conference at Dixon State School April 26.

Centering on the theme "Career Development—The Key to the Future" state school staff will demonstrate the broad range of career opportunities available for the high school students planning to go on to college as well as job openings for those with no immediate plans to continue their education.

General areas to be discussed, and visually presented, are these: medical and paramedical, behavioral sciences, therapies, skill trades and labor, business and clerical and special education.

The career day event is one of many planned at Dixon State School during the annual Mental Health Week observance. Highlights of the week will be the annual open house from 1 to 4 p.m. April 30.

Don-Mark Biermann, DSS rehabilitation counselor and career day chairman, has indicated there is still time for high school principals and guidance personnel to inform the state school of their school's plans to attend.

Other supervisors are: Properties, Carol Cooper and Sara Appenheimer; costumes, Lisa Waytenick and Ann Brauer; makeup, Pam Jones, Peggy Froelich and Kaye Cullen; lighting, Terry Schnake; tickets, Twyla Krakow; and publicity chairmen, Sandra Butler and Marcella Russman.

Coppolino Jury To Hear Medical Examiner Again

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Dr. Milton Helsen, the renowned medical examiner who is a main link in the state's chain of circumstantial evidence against Dr. Carl A. Coppolino, returns to the witness stand today for more acid-tinged cross-examination.

Helsen, chief medical examiner of New York City, faces his main adversary in the field of forensic medicine in famed defense attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston. He is 64, Bailey 33. Both are positive personalities.

This was their third courtroom clash, but they had been at shouting odds several times in private and public over what Helsen felt was the right of his office to retain possession of vital organs and facts in the

Hay Named New Polo Elementary School Adviser

POLO — Donald Hay, principal of Congress and Centennial Schools, will succeed Albert Iske as elementary school adviser.

Iske retired recently after serving for 32 years with Polo schools. His resignation is effective July 1.

Hay has been in the Polo school system for four years and received his master of arts degree from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

Sees Bigger Buildup in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high government official, predicting a greater Vietnam buildup in 1967 than the 40,000 U.S. troops estimated by the administration, says rising war costs can be expected to heat up the economy again.

The additional troops, along with the necessity of holding down the budget deficit and preventing inflation, will mean higher taxes are going to be needed, he predicted Friday.

The official, who asked to remain anonymous, said he did not have inside information, but from word circulating within the government it appeared the U.S. forces in Vietnam would be increased by 50,000 men during the year. Until now, most sources have held to an estimate of 40,000 men.

The administration has made no public change in the working estimate of 460,000 men it expects to have deployed in Vietnam by the end of the year.

The official made his predictions as the Federal Reserve Board (FED) released figures showing U.S. industrial production rose slightly in March following the sharpest two-month decline since the recession of 1960-61.

Race Set for Hillcrest Board Post

HILLCREST—Raymond McCaslin and Anthony Williams will vie for the Village Board presidency, a post left vacant by the retirement of former President Cecil Cagle, during village elections here Tuesday.

Seven candidates are seeking election to three seats on the village board. They are Johnnie Ailshie, David Davis, Earl Oellig, Ernest Peters, James Shreve, Henry Watson and Raymond Woodbright.

Village Board members Luther Austin, Harold Donovan and Louis Ussery are not seeking reelection. William Manley is opposing Louis Ussery for a two-year term on the board.

Beery-Fyfe Nuptial Vows Are Repeated in California Church

Miss Patti Jo Beery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos O. Beery, Tiburon, Calif., former residents of Dixon, exchanged marriage vows with Malcolm R. Fyfe, son of Mrs. Doris Fyfe, Claremont, South Africa, in a March 25 ceremony held in Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, Tiburon.

The Rev. Calvin Frisch, pastor of the church, was officiating clergyman for the 11 a.m. double-ring ceremony, and decorations included altar arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street length frock of ivory Chantilly lace worn over a sheath of matching peau de soie. Veiling trimmed her ivory circlet hat, and the bridal bouquet she carried combined white carnations and foliage.

Mrs. William G. Law, Dixon, who attended her sister as matron of honor, wore a dress of pastel green crepe overlaid with lace and accented by matching accessories and a bouquet of white gardenias.

Gardenias also formed the corsage worn by the bride's mother with her navy blue costume complemented by navy and white accessories.

The bride's brother, Robert L. Berry, San Francisco, Calif., acted as best man for Mr. Fyfe.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a champagne luncheon in the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito, Calif., which preceded a reception in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Fyfe, a Dixon High School graduate, completed courses in X-ray technology at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Aurora, and attended the University of California before serving two years as a member of the Peace Corps in Malawi, Africa. Prior to her marriage she was employed as an X-ray technician at Presbyterian Hospital, San Francisco.

Mr. Fyfe graduated from Worcester Boys' High School in Cape Province, South Africa, and served in the Royal Rhodesian Army. He has traveled extensively in Europe, Africa and the Middle East, and is presently an officer of the Barclay Bank of London, in Blantyre, Malawi, where they will be residing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fyfe traveled to Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif., following their marriage, and they are current guests of the William G. Laws, Timberland Drive. They were honored guests at a Thursday night dinner-party at Jul's Rainbow arranged by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Frank Fordham, and Mr. and Mrs. Law were hosts at a Friday night cocktail party honoring the couple.

Following their Dixon visit, the newlyweds will continue their wedding trip en route to New York City where they will board the Queen Mary May 3 for London. They have booked passage aboard the Pandemis Castle for Capetown, South Africa, and will travel through Central Africa to Blantyre.

Phidian Art Exhibit Opening Is Scheduled for Tuesday

The opening of the 20th annual art show sponsored by the Phidian Art Club, is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Loveland Community House Gallery when a public meeting of the club will feature a program by John F. McCarthy, instructor of art at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

Mr. McCarthy and James D. Swetlik, art teacher at Sauk Valley College, will act as judges for the show and will award prizes to Dixon artists whose works are selected as the exhibit's best entries.

A graduate of Joliet Junior College and Northern Illinois University where he received a B.S. degree, Mr. McCarthy also studied at the Art Institute of Chicago where he earned an M.F.A. degree. He is affiliated with Kappa Pi, honorary art fraternity, and is a member of the NIU Art Lecture Series committee.

Mr. McCarthy taught art at Maine Township High School, Des Plaines, before joining the NIU art faculty, and his art work has been exhibited at the University of North Dakota, the Chicago Art Institute, Brooks Memorial Gallery, Memphis, Tenn., and Pennuto Galleries in Joliet. He was also invited to exhibit at the Annual Carver Show in Evansville, Ind., and the Hudak Gallery, Joliet, sponsored an exclusive showing of his paintings.

Mr. Swetlik received B.S. and M.S. degrees at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., where his art study was concentrated on sculpture, drawing and glass blowing. His instructors have included Ito Scanga, David Gray, Leo Steppat and Harvey Littleton, and he has won awards for his entries in the annual Wisconsin Painters and Sculptors Show, the Arts in America Show, Macon, Ga., Madison Artists' Show and the Madison Students' Show.

Conference Report for Auxiliary

Wednesday night's American Legion Auxiliary meeting in Legion Hall included a report by Mrs. Roy DeWitt, Mrs. Clarence Bohlen and Mrs. Lloyd Duffy on the 39th annual Patriotic Conference sponsored by the state auxiliary department April 7 in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago.

Mrs. Louis Unfer, Champaign, state president, presided during the conference attended by 610 delegates and program themes included Americanism, National Security and Civil Defense.

Mrs. Roy J. Manford, national vice president of the central division, was honored at a luncheon and spoke on the progress made in auxiliary projects, and American Legion National Commander John E. Davis addressed the delegates on the topic, "Law and Order."

A featured speaker was Capt. Wayne Downing, Fort Benning, Ga., a Vietnam veteran, and Ted Higgins, Battle Creek, Mich., an American Red Cross adviser, spoke on Civil Defense. His remarks were illustrated by a film narrated by Danny Thomas.

Conference committees were introduced by Mrs. Victor Lello, general chairman, and districts with 100 per cent memberships were recognized by Mrs. Stanley O. Lofgren, department membership chairman.

Following the conference report, a business meeting was conducted by the auxiliary president, Mrs. Pryor Cochran, when a donation was made to "Freedom Foundation Seminars" designed to give teachers an opportunity to review the principles of freedom.

A letter was read from the directors of the Dixon YMCA Building Fund Campaign thanking auxiliary members for their $200 contribution, and a letter was also read from the Dixon Public Library expressing appreciation for a copy of the book, "In a Corsican Village," by Shirley Deane, a recent auxiliary gift to the library in memory of "Gold Star" mothers.

The meeting concluded with a benediction by Mrs. Arnold Chesak, chaplain.

Is Galbraith's Obit Of Demo Party Right?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — If recent utterances are any measure, some of this country's liberals — rather than President Johnson — seem bent on occupying Credibility Gap.

Not long ago, Theodore Sorsensen, former aide to John F. Kennedy, mistreated history as it pertains to vice presidents. Now economist John Kenneth Galbraith, new head of Americans for Democratic Action, is putting in his bid.

He says the Vietnam war could lead to the "death and burial" of the Democratic party. In support, he contends that war always has spelled trouble for the Democrats, citing presidential or congressional triumphs for the Republicans in the postwar or mid-war elections of 1920, 1946 and 1952.

Galbraith forecast that the Vietnam war would be even more disastrous for the Democrats if it is still on in 1968.

His prediction will be tested by events. His "history" can be checked now.

There is no question that Republican Warren Harding's presidential victory in 1920 reflected in considerable part U.S. voters' weariness with the sacrifices and inconveniences of World War I — ended two years before. Harding's "normalcy" had great appeal.

But it cannot be forgotten that the wartime Democratic president Woodrow Wilson was one of two exceptions (Grover Cleveland the other) in what turned out to be 75 years of GOP presidential ascendancy. Wilson would not have won the first time in 1912 without a split Republican vote, and he narrowly scraped through in 1916.

Something of the same war weariness and revulsion showed itself in 1946, a year after World War II ended, when the GOP slogan, "Had Enough?", symbolized a host of discontents with controls, shortages, confusion and corruption. Republicans gained 56 House seats, 13 in the Senate, three governorships.

But this was no Democratic burial. Two years later, President Harry Truman won the presidency by 2 million votes while his party gained 75 House seats, nine in the Senate, seven governorships. Truman managed his triumph despite 2.3 million votes for Progressive Henry A. Wallace and Dixiecrat Strom Thurmond.

Truman was still president, though not a candidate for reelection, when the Korean war made its undoubtedly heavy impact upon the 1952 test between Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

No other issue matched it — but there were others, including inflation, high taxes, charges of internal communism, Eisenhower's status as a war hero.

The important thing to be said about 1952, however, is that the widespread unhappiness over the war related chiefly to the fact that it was stalemate and seemed to be "getting nowhere," as voters said.

If Galbraith here would rush in to say, "Yes, just as in Vietnam today," he would be too hasty. For the stalemate complained of was taking place during truce negotiations of the very sort the U.S. liberal fraternity sees as the "way out" in Vietnam.

By voting day in 1952, those talks had gone on for 16 months without a final settlement. Men meantime were fighting and dying as if no truce existed. Of the 157,000 U.S. casualties in the Korean war, 78,000 — almost half — occurred in fighting while we were negotiating with the Communists from July, 1951, to July, 1953.

Red China and North Korea initiated that fighting. Captured Viet Cong documents indicate Hanoi also views "negotiating" as a war combat tactic to be conducted while fighting continues.

Opinion samplers in 1952 found it was the point — "trading of hills" kind of fighting which most upset voters. Neither then, nor in 1946 or 1920, were Democrats beaten by people who "opposed the war" as liberals today oppose the war in Vietnam.

New Non-Fiction
The Death of a President, by William Manchester. With no more than reportorial skills at his command, Mr. Manchester's tremendous research collects and collates who did, said, and thought what, during the November 20th to November 25th timespan. This account of President Kennedy's assassination has created a record-breaking amount of interest because of the great pre-publication publicity.

Life in the North During the Civil War, by George Winston Smith & Charles Judah. (Professor of history at the University of New Mexico, Dr. George Winston Smith is a former Dixonite, a graduate of Dixon High School and the son of Mr. George J. Smith, 210 N. Galena Avenue, Dixon). Engulfed in the tides of discord and controversy stirred by war, life at home was its own kind of battlefield for the citizens of the North. In these records of the time, the feelings of the people are laid bare.

Corregidor, by James H. Belote and William M. Belote. The saga of a fortress.

Romantic Rebels, by Emily Hahn. An informal history of Bohemianism in America.

Helicopters and Autogiros, by Charles Gablehouse. A chronicle of rotating-wing aircraft.

The Way of the Scientist, eds. of "International Science and Technology." Interviews — in which men who are important in the world of science and technology talk to their colleagues about their feelings, their opinions, their working methods.

Pop Art, by Lucy R. Lippard. The author and three noted critics trace the spectacular growth of Pop Art with more than 180 illustrations in color and black and white.

Bridge for Women, ed. by Richard L. Frey. Some new ideas — secrets that the best bridge players use.

Suite in Three Keys, by Noel Coward. Three new plays: "A Song at Twilight," "Shadows of the Evening," "Come Into the Garden Maud."

New Fiction
Under the Eye of the Storm, by John Hersey. This is a tale of the sea, of two men and their wives on a sailboat, moving toward the heart of a great storm.

Getting Straight, by Ken Kolb. "Getting Straight" abounds in deft caricature, wit, rudeness, explicitness, the relentless tempo of young American life.

Over the Mountains, by Pamela Frankau. A continuation of the story of the stimulating, exasperating and decidedly odd family by the name of Weston.

Dialogues With the Devil, by Taylor Caldwell. Through letters between Lucifer and the Archangel Michael, we learn why Terra was made sacred soil by the shedding of God's blood and much about good and evil.

The Dark Swallows, by Helen Griffiths. A haunting novel of the Spanish Civil War.

Death on the Installment Plan, by Louis-Ferdinand Celine. The story of young Ferdinand's first eighteen years. His life is one of hatred, of the grinding struggle of small shopkeepers to survive.

"You're just persecuting me because you know I can buy and sell you over 100 times!"

Dear Ann:

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: When I started to date I wouldn't consider going with anyone who wasn't at least five feet ten, well-built and handsome. I made fun of the boys who were a little too fat or a little too thin. If a fellow's nose was too big or his teeth weren't straight, he was automatically off my list.

A boy's clothes were important, too. If he didn't look like a fashion model I wouldn't consider being seen with him. My mother warned me that I was making a big mistake, but I wouldn't listen. I made fun of her, too. Guess what happened? I married the best looking, best-dressed fellow in town. All the girls were green with envy. Our wedding pictures were great.

We now have five children. My handsome, well-dressed husband never takes me anywhere, not even to church. I haven't eaten in a restaurant for three years. He prefers to go places alone.

I am disgusted and fed up, but I am determined to keep our marriage together. This rotten husband happens to be a good father.

Please warn the girls out there in Dateland not to pass up the short, homely fellows. I'm sorry I didn't have sense enough to grab one for myself. — SUSAN

Dear Susan: You're so right. Marrying for looks is a lot like buying wax fruit. You can starve to death looking at it.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is having a fifth birthday party in a few weeks. The problem is that the mothers always bring their children and sit around as if the party were for them.

I know from experience that young children behave much better when their mothers are not around. Our home is very small and it would be so much easier for me if the mothers did not stay.

If I come right out and tell them how I feel, will they be angry and perhaps retaliate by not allowing their children to come? What shall I do?—J.B.B.

Dear J.B.B.: Be frank. When you speak to a mother ask her to drop her child and leave him in your care. And you can sweeten the situation by arranging to take the children home when the party is over.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old girl who is in love with the most wonderful guy on earth. I know he is the man I am going to marry.

The problem is his mother. I've worked like a dog to get on her right side but she hates me.

Three months ago he dropped me to please her, but we got back together again. His mother doesn't know we are dating and he can't bring himself to tell her.

My boy friend is 20 and I think it is crummy that we have to sneak around behind his mother's back. Tell me what to do.—INVISIBLE INK.

Dear Ink: Stop seeing this fellow. If he doesn't have the courage to tell his mother he is dating you, he will never find the courage to marry you.

Go with others and tell him he is free to do the same. If he loves you he will come back. And if he does come back, make sure his mother knows about it or you'll waste some mighty precious years.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this

Terror Way of Life in Cuba

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If you live in Cuba, you never know from day to day what will happen to you. You may be jailed with no trial or explanation. Your arrest will come suddenly and without warning. You won't know how long you're to serve. Your release may come just as suddenly—without explanation. You may never know why you served the sentence.

This correspondent met the other day a man we will call Jose Ortega. He had just arrived in the United States. We met at the home of his brother-in-law.

Ortega lived in Cuba near Santiago, in a house he had built himself near the beach. He was an engineer and had just completed his final examination in night school for a degree. He was 41 years old, married and with a family.

Then Ortega applied for permission to come to the United States. The night school thereupon tore up his final examination without grading it and refused to give him his engineering degree.

A short time later, on July 7, 1966, a military man arrived at Ortega's house on a motorcycle. The man brought Ortega a telegram saying he must go in the army for three years. He was supposed to report at military headquarters the next day with his clothing and a toothbrush.

Ortega was surprised. Military service was required for men aged 15 to 27. So he went to the military office the next day and said "I am 41." The man he talked to said "Go back home; this must be a mistake."

But that night a man in a shabby olive-colored uniform came to his door. It was difficult to say what he was. He said to Ortega "You have to come with me right now to the Military Committee." This man wanted Ortega to get on the back of his motorcycle and come.

Ortega, however, said he would go himself. He went immediately to the military headquarters. They again told him to go home. They would pick him up. They didn't say what for. They wouldn't tell him anything.

Shortly, a truck appeared. With Ortega, it had four prisoners aboard and a guard with a machine gun. One man had been at home taking a bath. They gave him time to get on some clothes.

Ortega asked the driver where they were going. The driver said: "None of your business." They drove all night. The next morning they picked up 12 more men, ranging in age from about 20 to 45.

After this they headed for the country. Then Ortega figured they weren't going to the army but to a concentration camp. At a Plantation Central in a small Camaguey Province city, they stopped for uniforms—a blue cap, blue shirt and trousers and high yellow shoes for each prisoner. It began to rain and the Russian truck bogged down. The prisoners, now guarded by four soldiers, were ordered to walk the rest of the way.

Two miles later, they came to a barbed wire enclosure, 12 feet high and about 200 or 250 yards long. Overhead the barbed wire extended inward three feet. It looked like the Nazi concentration camps Ortega had seen in moving pictures. There were two military-type barracks.

The 16 prisoners were ordered through the gate and into men have resigned their positions.

The Illinois Central railroad is figuring on running a Sunday train from LaSalle to Freeport going through Dixon. It will go north between 8 and 9 a.m. and return about 10 p.m. This is no doubt a good thing and will be of great convenience to the traveling public.

the barracks, where they turned in their civilian clothes. Inside the barracks were long rows of two-decker bunks, stacked close together so you couldn't move between them. About 300 men slept in the 75-yard long room.

The prisoners were told that any of them who came within six feet of the barbed wire fence would be shot.

Each day the prisoners were ordered up at 4 a.m., given 10 minutes to get into formation. (They had no dressing problem. They lived, worked and slept in the same clothes all the time they were there without a change and without washing them.)

They ate, then marched off under guard two miles for seven hours work in a cane field.

The farmers living around the plantation camp area had been weeded of uncertain elements, given arms and instructed to shoot any prisoner attempting to escape. After the 7-hour cane cutting, the prisoners marched back to the barracks for a lunch of black beans and rice.

After lunch each day the inmates marched in a column of fours for four hours under the command of a noncommissioned officer. Dinner of black beans and rice was followed by two hours of indoctrination in communism.

Sunday was slightly different. An NCO would say: "This is Sunday. Anyone who doesn't want to work today voluntarily, let us know." Then they all marched off to work as usual. Ortega was paid 23 cents a day.

Voice of the People

Dear Mr. Shaw,

Thousands of Dixon residents were treated to personal political slam in the form of an editorial written by Robert E. Shaw and printed in the Dixon Telegraph. Of course slamming a candidate is the furthest from Mr. Shaw's intentions.

As many people have said Thursday night's editorial is typical on the part of a man dead set to get his way at the cost of any price. Such editorials have been written many times in the past, for if you can't win by waging a decent battle you can always turn to vulgarity and personal slams against a good man's character.

As Harry Truman said "If you can't stand the heat — get out of the kitchen." If the shoe fits, wear it! Everyone knows that editors who try to run things from behind a newspaper desk should learn to take medicine as well as dish it out.

If it were not for the greed that has crept into small community newspapers I would not be writing this letter. I believe in fair play and do not care who knows about it. Fair play would give credit where credit is due. . . . Mr. Lindquist deserves all the credit Dixonians can give. Look back a few years ago . . . the years before Admiral, Borg Warner, and Daubert Chemical . . . this town could hardly support your newspaper! Were you not the 1st. to support Mayor Lindquist a few years back? Yes, but unfortunately Mr. Lindquist didn't turn things over to Robert E. Shaw as he expected Mr. Lindquist would. Now out of spite you must get even. Newspapers have a great advantage in our society, they can print what they want, indoctrinate people to their side of the story by printing half truths, and win, usually with no harm to themselves. However, this time you'll lose. You see the people of Dixon aren't as near sighted as you think. We appreciate what's been done for our town. If you can do better, run for Mayor, but a one sided newspaper has no place in a small community like ours.

I have absolutely nothing against Mr. Hofmann. I'm sure he's a fine man. Support him in your editorials, this is Fair Play, not just personal slams against Mr. Lindquist. When the election is over and the votes are tabulated and Mr. Lindquist has been sworn in as Mayor, maybe just maybe your attitude will change. However, if Mr. Lindquist should lose this election, then you must be congratulated on one of the best run mud-slinging campaigns ever formed in Dixon. I DARE YOU TO PRINT THIS BECAUSE THE TRUTH HURTS WHEN PEOPLE ARE CONSCIENTIOUS. By the way when was the last time you flooded Dixon High School?

Sincerely,
Edward Youngmark

To The Dixon City Council:
Are you really working for the best interests of our local merchants and their patrons? If so, prove it by returning the 12-minute meters at the corner parking spots along First Street in the central business area.

I am sure I speak for the many employed persons who must do their errands in limited time, and my experience would be duplicated in their busy schedules. One of our downtown business houses kindly phoned me at my place of employment to say I might pick up an article which had been repaired. On my lunch hour I drove around several blocks to find a parking place, only to discover after I had parked that I had no nickel for the meter. Rather than take a chance on drawing a fine for doing my business without feeding the meter, I left the place and went on home to lunch. As I did so, I passed several corner parking spots which were vacant, but they also required nickels.

Now I must wait a day or so until I again find time to look for a parking place. Friend merchant would no doubt like to have my property out of his workroom, and I would certainly be glad to have my property at home in operation. If short-time parking spaces were available downtown, our business transaction could have been completed today to everyone's satisfaction.

If you men on the Dixon City Council really want to keep things moving in Dixon, you better become aware of the needs of your fellow citizens, rather than just quietly building up your own interests. Return the 12-minute parking meters at the downtown intersections, and have at least one small mark to your credit on your service record.

Very truly yours
Erda G. Bacorn

Satellites

Photos Help Guide Bombers

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers are being guided to targets in North Vietnam by daily photographs received from U.S. weather satellites, the Air Force announced today.

It said the sweeping photos of all Southeast Asia have become one of the most valuable guides to U.S. bombing. And the North Vietnamese could be receiving them, too, and using them for air defense planning.

The weather photos from the Essa and Nimbus satellites — both orbiting more than 600 miles up — are monitored by Air Force weather stations in Saigon and Udorn, Thailand.

So vital are the pictures that wet prints are frequently rushed to the U.S. air commander in Vietnam, Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, while strikes are already headed north.

By spotting breaks in the clouds, Momyer can divert planes to areas that are unexpectedly clear. With satellite photos sometimes taken just minutes before, he has a grasp of the weather situation impossible to obtain by conventional forecasting.

The wave lengths on which the satellites transmit the photos are public knowledge, and they are being received and studied by various nations throughout the world.

The Air Force has no confirmation that they are being received in North Vietnam. But experts say the necessary equipment is relatively cheap and the photos would be just as valuable to North Vietnam as they are to the U.S. Air Force.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-518: Rev. Brown is an Ohio clergyman.

"Dr. Crane," he began indignantly, "I want to resign from being one of the 3,000 clergyman counsellors for your Scientific Marriage Foundation."

"For I disagree violently with one of your newspaper columns."

"You said that the main reason Jesus died on Calvary was to show mankind the extensiveness of God's love for us human children."

"But that's heresy and definitely not so!"

"For the Bible tells us that Jesus died to save us from our sins!"

Every successful clergyman must have a sense of humor and a creative imagination!

Jesus was not a narrow adict of the mere letter of the law.

When his Apostles were thus pompously indicted for rubbing a few heads of wheat between their palms on the Sabbath, what did Jesus reply?

"The Sabbath was made for man," Christ retorted; "not man for the Sabbath!"

Rev. Brown would thus have criticized Jesus, too, for the Bible had specifically stated that man should not labor on the Sabbath!

As the father of five children, I don't demand that one of them die just to make me forgive another one who may have erred! Nor do any of you other parents!

So God obviously could have forgiven us human children without sending Christ to a cruel death on the cross.

Belgium is the name of a town in Wisconsin.

Jesus Himself specifically told us that what we need to be forgiven is a contrite heart and then God will pardon us.

So any alert clergyman with an iota of creative imagination should realize that the main purpose of Calvary was not primarily to save us from our sins, though that is obviously a by-product.

The real psychological import of Calvary requires a quick condensation of ethical evolution on this planet Earth.

All primitive tribes recognized a superior "Power" behind earthquakes, tornadoes, meteors, etc.

So they soon developed a system of idols or tribal gods.

But ALWAYS they viewed such gods as cruel, vindictive despots, eager to incinerate us with a lightning bolt, as in the case of Scandinavian Thor and Woden.

They kowtowed to their vindictive gods and tried to bribe or buy favors by sacrifices of rice and wine and even their own babies, thrown into the fiery iron maw of Baal or into the Ganges River.

Yet God says he created us as his earthly children and apparently expected us to look upon him as a loving, indulgent modern Dad, raised to the nth power.

Alas, even the great Hebrew prophets, like Samuel, Elijah, Isaiah and others didn't put that idea across.

But about 1,800 B.C., Abraham was willing to sacrifice his only son Isaac to God just to prove his devotion.

Since nothing else had awakened mankind to the loving Fatherhood of the Almighty, God apparently decided to make one last gamble and reciprocate Abraham's proof of devotion.

So God sacrificed his Only Son as evidence of his extensive love for us erring children. And no religion, before or since, has ever depicted deity as sacrificing to win us mortals!

Calvary is unmatched by any other religion!

matter of fact

The puffer, sometimes called the balloonfish, can inflate its body many times by swallowing air or water. It does this when attacked. Its spine protrudes and forms a defensive armor. The jaws of the puffer look like a parrot's beak and are powerful enough to break off branches of coral. Some varieties of the puffer contain a deadly poison and are dangerous to eat.

Highway Dept. Hopes To Meet '67 Target Date

By JAMES T. BRADLEY
United Press International
SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The Illinois Division of Highways was shooting for an April 1 "target date" for completion of a 13-mile interstate highway from Interstate 80 to the Hennepin steel plant site.

And construction has not yet begun.

State Public Works Director Francis S. Lorenz said the new $600 million Jones & Laughlin steel plant at Hennepin had a completion date of next spring, and he hoped the highway would be ready by the same time.

"But I have no idea whether the two will match up," Lorenz told United Press International in an interview.

Use Old Bridge

Lorenz said the interstate highway would have to use an old bridge over the Illinois River for some time after the freeway was completed.

"We will have to use the present two-lane bridge until the double span structure is completed," he said. "The present bridge can be fitted into that kind of operation but, of course, it couldn't handle full capacity interstate use."

Ralph D. Brown Jr., planning engineer for the Highways Division, said some of the land for the highway had not yet been bought, and specifications for the bridge construction were incomplete.

"It would probably be three or four months after completion of the road before the bridge could be opened to traffic," Brown said. "But I couldn't say when it would be done because the bridge contracts aren't let yet and the completion date would be in the contracts."

The interstate spur from Interstate 80 to Hennepin has been designated Interstate 180 by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, and 90 per cent of the construction cost will be borne by the federal government.

A 26-Mile Gap

When completed, it will leave a gap of only 26 miles of two-lane Illinois 29 between Hennepin and a 22-mile superhighway running northward along the west bank of the river from Peoria to Chillicothe.

"The Highways Division always has plans, and we are hopeful enough money will be available to hook up the major arteries to service the community," Lorenz said. "A lot will depend on this legislature."

"There is no timing set on the extension of the spur to Peoria, but it definitely will be hooked up sometime," Brown said.

The Peoria - Princeton route could wind up as part of a proposed Kansas City to Chicago superhighway.

Lorenz said the state of Missouri wanted such an interstate highway or toll road and it might be routed by Illinois to Chicago via Peoria.

Want to Be Ready

"Missouri is anxious to build the road even though they have no provisions for a toll system," Lorenz said. "As far as we're concerned, we want to be ready for it so that we don't have all this traffic being dumped at the border with no facilities to handle it."

Brown was more definite.

"Any Kansas City to Chicago interstate would almost have to include Peoria," he said.

Gov. Otto Kerner in announcing plans for the Princeton-Hennepin freeway in January estimated it would cost $18 million.

Lorenz and Brown said they could not estimate the cost at this stage. But unofficial estimates have ranged beyond $30 million.

Kerner announced the new highway after failing to secure federal approval of immediate construction of an interstate highway from Lincoln north to Interstate 80 near the Hennepin area. The governor had proposed that route past Peoria on the east side of the Illinois River in August of 1965 as an alternative to immediate conversion of U.S. 66 between Lincoln and Joliet to interstate standards.

Poster Contest Opens to Students

Students at about 700 grade schools in 14 northern Illinois counties have been invited to design posters in a contest being conducted in conjunction with Mental Health Week, May 1 to 7, and Dixon State School Open House, April 30.

Participating counties are Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Winnebago, Boone, DeKalb, Lee, Whiteside, Ogle, Rock Island, Carroll, La Salle, Putnam, Bureau and Henry.

The purpose of the contest is to encourage an educational approach to Mental Health Week and bring attention to the problem of mental retardation, which afflicts about six million Americans. It is hoped the school children and their parents will become more informed and develop better understanding of the problems and needs of the retarded.

Seventh and eighth graders will compete in class A, while fourth through sixth graders will compete in class B. Prizes of $75, $50 and $25 U.S. savings bonds and five 5 consolation awards will be made in each category by the Dixon State School Association for the Retarded.

Deadline for entries is April 21. Final judging will be done April 24 and the winners notified. Awards will be made at a State School luncheon on open house day.

All posters submitted will become the property of the Dixon State School.

Values of a Newspaper Route

BOYS of newspaperboy age are in a critical period of development. They are being molded for life's future assignments and responsibilities. What these boys do with their excess energy and their excess time has a strong relation to how they come through this important stage and how they'll fare later.

A boy who operates his own business, as a newspaperboy does, is investing his excess time and energy in a way that will pay dividends for the rest of his life. He is doing something constructive, he is on his own, he is learning things you'll never learn from books or in classrooms and, in addition, he's earning his way at the same time.

The benefits of newspaperboy route training are things that a parent or a teacher can not give a boy. It is the intangible benefits, such as learning how to deal with people, how to make occasional sacrifices and how to overcome obstacles, that make a boy a better man.

For proof, one need only note the many famous people who used their early newspaper route work as a stepping stone in achieving their goals later in life.

DID YOU KNOW?

Commander William Robert Anderson, Skipper of the Atomic Submarine "Nautilus"; First to Navigate the Polar Ice Cap was one of many former Prominent newspaper boys.

Chicago Blasts Pittsburgh for 13 Hits

Pirates Take It on Chin 8-5

By United Press International

When the Chicago Cubs play the Pittsburgh Pirates, things do not usually go well for the Cubs.

The pennant contending Pirates can be counted on for smooth fielding and tight pitching, as well as timely and powerful hitting. The Cubs cannot be counted on for any of those things.

Friday at Forbes Field a crowd of 32,296 once again saw good fielding and hitting but—surprise!—it wasn't the Pirates who supplied it, it was the Cubs.

The Chicagoans smashed out 13 hits, five of them for extra bases, including home runs by Ron Santo and Ernie Banks, to gain an 8-5 victory and spoil Pittsburgh's home opener.

The White Sox, idle Friday, open up their home season today at Comiskey Park by taking on the Washington Senators.

The Cubs who got another defensive gem out of Adolpho Phillips, had all eight runs for starter Curt Simmons before the Pirates could mount a counterattack in the fifth inning.

The Pirates solved Curt for one in the fifth, one in the eighth and three in the ninth but the 20-year veteran hung on for the win and the second complete game for a Cub pitcher in three games this young season.

The Cubs got their first run on a homer by Banks in the second inning and then jumped on starter Dennis Ribant in the fifth inning, when they scored five runs. Santo led this uprising with a two-run homer.

The Cubbies added their last two runs in the sixth. It was in the sixth that Phillips made a running, diving shoe-string catch of a soft drive by Gene Alty with two men on. The catch retired the side and prevented a sure two runs.

All the Cubs played well on defense, in fact, while the Pirates looked sloppy, committing three errors.

For the second game of the series today at Pittsburgh, the Cubs will start Ray Culp against the Pirates' Tommie Sisk.

The White Sox pitch Tommie Johns against the Senators' Pete Richert.

Felipe Alou and Joe Torre hit homers and Hank Aaron had a double and two singles to lead the Braves' 10-hit attack. Bob Jarvis went 5-1-3 in innings to gain credit for the victory although he needed relief help from Phil Niekro. Jim Davenport hit two homers and Willie McCovey one for the Giants.

Chris Short drove in a run with a single during a third-inning rally and pitched a seven-hitter for the Phillies. Who chased Mets' starter Jack Fisher in 2-1-3 innings before an opening-night crowd of 26,649.

Eddie Mathews moved into the No. 7 spot on the all-time home run career list when he hit the 494th of his career in the Astros' easy victory over the Reds. Mathews' No. 494 enabled him to pass Lou Gehrig and left him six short of becoming the sixth man in history to reach the 500-mark. Rookie Aaron Pointer's three-run homer and two hits each by Sonny Jackson and Bob Aspromonte also featured the nine-hit Houston attack.

Larry Jaster took an unfamiliar walk to the showers but the Los Angeles Dodgers took an all-too-familiar walk on the plank.

That was the story of the St. Louis Cardinal pitcher's first meeting of the 1967 season with the team which he shut out a record five consecutive times in 1966. The young right-hander shut out the Dodgers into the seventh inning Friday night and was kayoed in the ninth but

Benvenuti, Griffith Fight Set

NEW YORK (AP) — The Italians are coming.

More than 150 of them already have arrived and several hundred more are expected this weekend to root for Nino Benvenuti in his bid for middleweight champion Emile Griffith's crown at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

This is the handsome Italian's American debut and his countrymen are flying over to give him vocal support. It may help Nino but it also may hurt him.

When they start shouting "Nee-no, Nee-no," it undoubtedly will encourage the 28-year-old fighter from Trieste. But it also figures to spur Griffith into a fighting fury.

Emile is very sensitive to loud cheering for his opponents. He gets mad and throws punches in furious spurts.

There's a chance, too, however, that Griffith may not even hear the Italian rooters.

Emile's widowed mother, Emelda is a buxom woman with a voice to match her size. She has a ringside seat for Emile's fights and her shouts drown out a whole section.

She's always standing and yelling and usually blocks the view of any half dozen or so unfortunate to sit behind her.

Mrs. Griffith doesn't often need help in her rooting but there is another dozen or so of Emile's brothers, sisters and cousins around to help cheer for their meal-ticket. Emile supports most of them.

Benvenuti's wife, Juliana, arrived Friday along with his father, Fernando, and brother, Alfio. They were accompanied by 1949 other fans who arrived on a chartered plane from Milan.

Benvenuti, working at Haines Falls, N.Y., and Griffith, training at Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., have finished their hard training for the fight.

Although the Italian has displayed ring skill, fast hands and punching power, he remained a 13-5 underdog against the seasoned champion.

Beard Leads Tournament

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The giants of golf remained in seats slightly to the rear today as lesser-known Frank Beard, with a lead of three strokes, paced the procession of 26 players into the third round of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions.

Beard, from Louisville, Ky., headed toward 54 holes with previous rounds of 65-68-133, nine strokes under par for the distance, and said hopefully:

"Maybe this is going to be my week."

Tied at 136 were Jack Nicklaus and Doug Sanders, neither a stranger to tournament prominence, and Dan Sikes, the non-practicing attorney from Jacksonville, Fla.

Nicklaus and Sikes reached 136 with successive rounds of 68-68, while Sanders did it in 67-69.

Three-time winner Arnold Palmer, with 68-73, was down the line at 141, deadlocked there with Art Wall Jr. and Don January.

The 139 bracket listed Gay Brewer, Bobby Nichols, R. H. Sikes and Bruce Devlin, while Bob Goalby was alone at 140.

Far back and almost out of sight was U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, who flailed away for his highest one-hole score, an 11, on the par-5 15th hole at the par 36-35-71 Stardust Golf Club.

Three drives that hooked out of bounds told the story for Casper, whose 77 left him at 148.

There was wind and Billy said he was using a new driver. "Wind, yes, but I can't blame the wind or the club or anything but me," said Casper.

He said his chances of winning in the wind-up Sunday are about "500,000 to 1."

There is $20,000 at stake for the winner, but the pros haven't lost their sense of humor.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jerry Wynn, publicity director of the San Diego Chargers, was elected president of the American Football League publicity directors Friday.

The largely ceremonial honor was afforded Wynn on the final day of the group's annual meeting.

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos of the American Football League announced Friday that they will meet the Miami Dolphins July 29 in a night exhibition game at Akron, Ohio.

It will be the first AFL game ever played in Ohio and the first 1967 pre-season contest for the Broncos. Denver already has scheduled games with Minnesota and Detroit, both of the National Football League, on Aug. 5 and Aug. 18 respectively.

Big Ten Had To Act

Illinois' Penalty Was Too Soft: Reed

CHICAGO (UPI) — Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed Friday persistently defended his decisions in the recent University of Illinois slush fund scandal which resulted in the dismissal of three Illini coaches and the suspension of several athletes.

Reed, testifying before an investigating subcommittee of the Illinois General Assembly, was the object of a slashing, four-hour interrogation by the subcommittee's chief counsel, Thomas A. Graham of Danville.

Reed conceded the penalties imposed upon the university were the most severe in conference history and said it was within his authority to have spared the school.

The Big Ten athletic directors, acting on recommendations from Reed, insisted Illinois fire head football coach Pete Elliott, head basketball coach Harry Combes and basketball assistant Howie Braun.

Penalty Too Soft

Illinois had sought to impose its own penalties on the coaches and players who were party to the illegal $21,000 aid fund for athletes.

But Reed said he was not satisfied with the severity of the penalties the university was prepared to impose upon itself. Illinois had suggested Elliott and Combes be placed on probation for two years and that they be prohibited from recruiting for one year. No mention was made of Braun.

The Illini also suggested the 14 athletes involved be suspended temporarily until each case could be considered individually.

Graham time and time again tried to demonstrate what he considered a lack of compassion on the part of Reed.

"Do you feel that the action taken . . . has practically ruined the coaching careers of three men?" Graham asked.

"I think they are employable," Reed said.

Graham implied Reed had no sympathy for the economic situation of the students involved.

Has Great Sympathy

"I have great sympathy for these individuals," replied Reed. "I have great sympathy for their economic circumstances and their misdirection by more mature people."

"But the integrity of the rule, and the need for applying the rule persisted."

Graham pressed further. "The rule is more important to you than mitigating circumstances?"

"Yes," said Reed.

Graham got Reed to admit he was aware certain funds in other Big Ten schools had existed in the past, especially the case of Sonny Grandelius, former Michigan State assistant football coach who operated a private fund from 1956 to 1959 with the knowledge of Spartan head coach Duffy Daugherty.

Reed said this occurred under different circumstances and before his term as commissioner began in 1961. "We all start fresh," he said.

Reed said his concern upon becoming commissioner was to have "express adherence to the rules from here on."

He was asked to return next week for more hearing questions.

Angels Trounce Cleveland 10-1

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

The secret life of Bill Rohr is public history today.

No more mysterious hiding or intrigue will involve the innocuous-looking Boston southpaw, who assured himself of nationwide notoriety Friday when he came within one strike of pitching an historic no-hitter against the New York Yankees.

For the entire 1963 season Rohr was kept hidden on a farm by Pittsburgh, which hoped to sneak him through the fall draft unnoticed. But even though he didn't pitch all season, Rohr was claimed from the Pirates for $8,000.

The 21-year-old lefthander, making his major league debut, went as far as two out in the ninth inning before New York's Elston Howard lined a 3-and-2 pitch into right center to ruin the no-hit bid. Rohr retired the next batter to preserve a 3-0 victory for the Red Sox.

The Minnesota Twins beat the Detroit Tigers 5-3, the Baltimore Orioles ripped the Kansas City Athletics 7-1 and the California Angels trounced the Cleveland Indians 10-1 in other American League games. Washington and Chicago were not scheduled.

All the Boston runs came on homers, Reggie Smith leading off the game with his first major league circuit and Joe Foy hitting a two-run blast in the eighth. Both home runs came off losing pitcher Whitey Ford.

Error Decisive

Homers by Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles provided the Twins with their winning margin although the decisive run scored on an error by Detroit second baseman Jerry Lumpe in the sixth inning. Dick Tracewski, losing pitcher Earl Wilson and Don Wert drove home the Detroit runs in the second.

Jim Merritt yielded only three hits over the final four innings to gain credit for the victory.

Baltimore scored four unearned runs in the third inning—three of them on a home run by Andy Etchebarren—to coast to its third victory of the season without defeat. An error by third baseman Ed Charles opened the way for the Orioles outburst against loser Tony Pierce.

Rookie Bill Dillman relieved Tom Phoebus in the fifth for Baltimore and pitched hitless ball over the final five innings for his first triumph.

Rick Reichardt and Don Mincher each hit two-run homers and drove in seven runs between them to highlight the Angels' attack. Veteran Jack Sanford, with fine relief help from Minnie Rojas, was the winning pitcher. Luis Tiant was charged with the loss.

Rohr's Debut Almost Perfection; Blanks N. Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a tale of the one that got away.

It got away from Bill Rohr, a nervous, stringbean rookie pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, with two men out in the ninth inning and a 3-2 count on Elston Howard of the New York Yankees.

And because it did, the men who compile baseball's cherished record books will have one less revision to make next year.

Since Rohr is only 21 years old and has a promising future ahead of him, he may yet get a handful of chances to nail down that final out of a no-hit, no-run game.

But never will it hold the impact of the near miss the 6-3 southpaw uncorked Friday in the "baptism" of the newly-refurbished Yankee Stadium. For Rohr was making his very first appearance in a major league game and never in the modern history of baseball had a player achieved such a measure of perfection under those circumstances.

Big Disappointment

But it wasn't meant to be because Howard, the veteran catcher who has been around the big league for 12 years, lined a lazy curve ball cleanly into right center to the disappointment of a crowd of 14,375, including Mrs. Kennedy and her son, John, who groaned as the ball fell for a hit.

"He hit a flat curve ball on the outside," said a still numb Rohr after the initial shock had worn off. "It was kind of a slap but it would have been a strike if he had let it go by. But he gets paid to hit. He gets paid a lot more than I do to pitch so I can't feel any animosity toward him for what he did."

If Rohr was bitterly disappointed at the fate that befell him, he didn't show it. In fact, he was quite pleased at blanking the Yankees 3-0 in his very first look at Yankee Stadium.

Nervous Debut

Rohr's performance, in which he allowed five walks and committed the only error, was remarkable in view of his condition prior to the game. He was so nervous that some of his teammates figured he might not even make it to the mound.

But make it he did. Flapping off the mound with his long arms and legs bent at distorted angles, Rohr completely baffled the Yankee hitters with his herky-jerky motion in which he paused in the middle of his windup and then released the ball stiff-armed from somewhere near first base.

The slim southpaw retired the first 10 hitters in order before his control began to waver. He walked Tom Tresh and Joe Pepitone in the fourth but Howard's sinking liner to left center was grabbed by George Thomas at his shoetops after the center fielder had almost overrun the ball.

Fancy Fielding

Rohr got a big break in the sixth and a helping hand in the ninth which enabled him to hang on. Rookie Bill Robinson hit a sharp grounder back to the box in the sixth and Rohr, off-balance, was struck on the left shin. Painful though it was, it saved a hit because the ball ricocheted to third baseman Joe Foy who threw out Robinson.

Tresh led off the ninth with a searing line drive over Carl Yastrzemski's head in left field. Yaz, however, turned his back to the plate at the crack of the bat and gave a tremendous chase, finally leaping in the air to stab it and falling to ground. "It was the best catch I've ever seen in my life," said Rohr. "After Yaz make it, I thought I owed it to him to get the no-hitter."

It looked like he would when he nailed Pepitone on a routine fly. But then came the fatal pitch to Howard.

The veteran paid a price for his single. "You know this is the first time I've ever been booed in Yankee Stadium for getting a hit," said Howard with a sheepish grin.
